

Albanian High Voltage Distribution Box Supplier

Article Overview

Key suppliers of high voltage distribution boxes in Albania include ENPI Shpk, Albesol, Albalettica, and KEAD, offering certified equipment and installation services.

Leading Suppliers

ENPI Shpk specializes in advanced electrical solutions, including low and medium voltage distribution systems. They provide industrial control components, automatic circuit breakers, and high-performance electrical materials, with over 30 years of experience in the energy sector. ENPI serves substations, transmission lines, renewable energy plants, airports, hospitals, and industrial facilities, ensuring compliance with international standards and offering professional consulting for optimal system design . Albesol is a licensed manufacturer and service provider for medium voltage switchgears up to 20 kV. They are an authorized panel builder for Schneider Electric and provide sales and after-sales services for European electrical brands. Albesol has extensive experience in constructing HV substations, underground and overhead distribution lines, and industrial and commercial projects across Albania and Kosovo . Albalettica has been active since 1993, offering wholesale and retail of electrical equipment, including high voltage distribution panels. They provide design, installation, and maintenance services for civil and industrial applications. Albalettica partners with leading European brands such as ABB and Palazzoli, ensuring high-quality products and professional technical support. Their services include home automation, energy management, and industrial automation solutions . KEAD focuses on importing high voltage equipment (110, 22...
