

Buried optical cable price

Article Overview

Buried optical cables typically cost between $1 and $6 per foot for materials, with installation costs significantly increasing the total project expense.

Material Costs

The price of fiber optic cable for direct burial depends on fiber type, strand count, armoring, and jacket material. Single-mode fiber generally costs $0.10 to $0.50 per foot, while multimode fiber ranges from $0.30 to $1.00 per foot. High-strand-count cables, such as 24-strand or 288-strand, can cost $1 to $6 per foot. Armored cables designed for harsh environments or direct burial applications are more expensive, typically $0.50 to $5 per foot due to steel tape or wire reinforcement and double or triple sheathing for mechanical protection and water resistance .

Installation Costs

Underground installation adds significant costs compared to aerial or indoor runs. Labor-intensive processes like trenching, conduit placement, and fusion splicing can account for 60% to 80% of total project costs. Pre-terminated cables can reduce field labor by up to 70%, but the upfront material cost is higher . Typical commercial installations with 100–200 network drops can range from $15,000 to $30,000, depending on project complexity and distance .
