

Comoro Mesh Cable Management Frame Price

Article Overview

The price of a Comoro Mesh Cable Management Frame varies depending on size, material, and supplier, typically ranging from $50 to $200 per unit.

Overview

Comoro Mesh Cable Management Frames are designed to organize and support network and electrical cables in data centers, server rooms, and industrial installations. They are often made of metal mesh for durability, airflow, and easy access to cables. These frames are compatible with standard racks and enclosures, helping maintain proper bend radius and reducing cable stress.

Factors Affecting Price

- Size and Dimensions: Width, height, and thickness of the mesh frame influence cost. Common sizes include widths from 50mm to 450mm and heights around 50mm.
- Material: Steel or aluminum mesh frames are more expensive than basic wire trays due to strength and corrosion resistance.
- Supplier and Region: Prices vary by distributor and shipping location. Suppliers in North America, Europe, or MENA regions may have different pricing structures.
- Accessories: Some frames include mounting brackets, covers, or vertical/horizontal cable managers, which can increase the total cost.
