

Custom Home Distribution Box Manufacturer in Australia

Article Overview

A-Line Group and Echo Boards & Products are leading Australian manufacturers of custom home distribution boxes and switchboards.

A-Line Group

Based in Melbourne, A-Line Group is recognized as one of the top switchboard builders in Australia. They specialize in custom-manufactured main switchboards, distribution boards, pillars, and take-off boxes for both domestic and international markets. Their services include design, manufacturing, and installation support, ensuring compliance with Australian electrical standards. A-Line also offers solutions for EMF shielding, fire penetration ratings, and on-site mobile storage systems, making them a versatile provider for residential and commercial electrical projects .

Echo Boards & Products

Echo Boards & Products, located in Sydney, is a family-owned business since 1988, manufacturing standard and custom-built switchboards, meter boxes, temporary meter boxes, panel surrounds, trays, and covers. They supply builders, wholesalers, and electricians with both stock and custom steel products. Echo Boards emphasizes Australian-made quality, workplace safety, and the ability to build switchboards to exact specifications, including custom sizes and configurations .
