

How much does a network server rack chassis cost

Article Overview

Server racks typically range from $1,500 to $3,500 for high-spec enterprise units, while rackmount chassis can start as low as $100 for small-scale setups and go up to several hundred dollars for enterprise-grade models.

Server Rack Pricing

Server racks, also called cabinets, are available in various sizes and configurations. Full-height 42U racks are standard for enterprise data centers, while 48U racks are increasingly popular for AI and high-density workloads due to liquid cooling requirements. Prices for high-spec steel enclosures range from $1,500 to $3,500 per unit, depending on features like load capacity (1,500kg+), ventilation, cable management, and cooling options. Colocation costs for a 42U rack can vary from $599 to $6,000 per month, depending on power density and service level. Smaller racks for edge computing or retail environments, including wall-mount units, are more affordable and focus on space efficiency and ease of installation. Open-frame racks are often cheaper and easier to ship, while enclosed cabinets provide security, dust protection, and better airflow management.
