

Ireland Indoor Fiber Optic Equipment Company

Article Overview

Ireland hosts several leading companies specializing in indoor fiber optic equipment, installation, and network management, including Dublin Communications, Connectix, FibreLink, and Alltec Fibre.

Key Companies and Services

Dublin Communications offers comprehensive fiber optic cabling services for both internal network backbones and building-to-building links. Their engineers are trained in all aspects of fiber types, joints, chambers, cabinets, and data center environments. They provide single-mode and multi-mode solutions, including air-blown fiber for easy upgrades and maintenance, and offer a 25-year manufacturer-backed warranty on installations . Connectix Cabling Systems provides structured cabling and fiber optic solutions across Ireland, focusing on high-quality installation and network reliability . FibreLink Ireland specializes in high-speed broadband infrastructure, including fiber-to-the-home (FTTH) and commercial premises upgrades. They combine structured cabling with Cat 5e/6 and fiber solutions, emphasizing precision, reliability, and professional project management . Alltec Fibre delivers large-scale project management, installation, and testing for optical fiber networks, particularly for hyper-scale internet companies and data centers. They have extensive experience in European data center rollouts and maintain strict confidentiality for client projects .
