

Price of large indoor electrical distribution boxes

Article Overview

Indoor electrical distribution boxes typically range from $30 to over $500 depending on size, capacity, and features.

Typical Price Range

- Residential units: Basic single-phase indoor distribution boxes usually cost $30-$150, suitable for small homes or apartments with limited circuits and standard amperage ratings .
- Commercial units: Larger boxes with multiple circuits, higher amperage, and enhanced safety features can range from $150-$400 .
- Industrial or high-capacity units: Three-phase or heavy-duty indoor distribution boxes with advanced monitoring, smart features, or specialized enclosures may exceed $500 .

Factors Affecting Price

- Voltage and Amperage Rating: Higher voltage or current capacity increases cost due to thicker bus bars, larger enclosures, and more robust components .
- Number of Circuits: Boxes with more circuit slots or MCBs (miniature circuit breakers) are more expensive .
- Material and Construction: Plastic enclosures are cheaper, while metal or fire-resistant materials increase durability and price .
- Safety and Certification: Compliance with standards like IEC, IP ratings, and ETL/CE certifications can affect cost
