

Swiss fiber optic connector manufacturer

Article Overview

Leading Swiss manufacturers of fiber optic connectors include DIAMOND SA, LEMO, and Fiberswiss AG, offering precision-engineered solutions for high-performance optical networks.

Key Manufacturers

DIAMOND SA DIAMOND SA is renowned for its high-precision fiber optic products, including connectors, ferrules, and custom assemblies. They pioneered the E-2000® connector and utilize patented Active Core Alignment (ACA) technology to minimize core eccentricity, ensuring low insertion loss and exceptional repeatability. Their vertically integrated manufacturing process—from ferrule production to fiber polishing and assembly—supports applications in telecommunications, aerospace, medical, and industrial sectors, delivering highly reliable and durable connectors for critical environments .

LEMO LEMO specializes in high-performance fiber optic connectors designed for demanding environments. Their portfolio includes ultra-compact butt-joint termini with PC or APC polishings, Push-Pull locking, and IP68 sealing. LEMO connectors are widely used in medical devices, deployable telecommunications networks, fiber optic sensing, and broadcast applications. They also offer hybrid connectors combining fiber optic and electrical contacts in a single housing, ideal for space-constrained or ergonomic-critical applications .

Fiberswiss AG Fiberswiss AG provides a broad range of fiber optic solutions, including indoor and outdoor cables, splice closures, and connector assemblies. They focus on practical and reliable fiber optic technology for both commercial and industrial applications, supporting installations that require robust and efficient connectivity ....
