

Where are fiber optic splitter manufacturers located

Article Overview

Fiber optic splitter manufacturers are primarily located in China, the United States, and Europe, with major hubs in Shenzhen, New York, Texas, and Germany.

China

China is a leading hub for fiber optic splitter production, particularly in Shenzhen, which hosts several prominent manufacturers such as Shenzhen Spring Optical Communication Co., Ltd., Shenzhen OPTICO Communication Co., Ltd., and Shenzhen Sopto Technology Co., Ltd. These companies produce a wide range of optical products including PLC and FBT splitters, fiber pigtails, jumpers, and optical transceivers, serving industries like telecommunications, data centers, and 4G/5G networks . Other Chinese manufacturers include TANGPIN and YINGDA Technology Limited, which specialize in customized splitter solutions .

United States

In the U.S., major manufacturers include Corning Incorporated in Corning, New York, known for specialty glass and optical fiber products, and Megladon Manufacturing Group, Ltd. in Austin, Texas, which produces fiber optic connectors, patch cords, and cable assemblies . Gilson Company, Inc. in Lewis Center, Ohio also appears in splitter manufacturing, though it primarily focuses on testing equipment .
