

Wholesale Price of Upgraded Cold Aisle Version for Computer Rooms

Article Overview

Upgraded cold aisle containment systems for data centers typically range from $2,300 to $2,750 per door assembly, with modular panels and full aisle solutions priced based on size, materials, and customization.

Pricing Overview

- Cold Aisle Containment Doors: High-quality sliding or swing doors for cold aisles are priced between $2,299 and $2,749 per unit, depending on width, height, and finish options, with custom powder-coated colors available for additional cost .
- Modular Panels and Walls: Bulk or wholesale panels made from durable plastics or aluminum frames, often used to create cold aisle separation, are available at competitive pricing, with costs influenced by thickness, anti-static properties, and FM4910 fire ratings .
- Complete Aisle Containment Systems: Turnkey solutions, including aluminum channels, modular walls, and airflow management components, are designed for scalability and energy efficiency. Pricing varies widely based on the number of racks, aisle length, and system complexity, but wholesale orders for multiple rows can reduce per-unit costs significantly .

Features Affecting Cost

- Material Quality: Premium-grade aluminum, anti-static plastics, and polycarbonate panels increase durability and energy efficiency, impacting price
