

Zimbabwean custom cabinet price

Article Overview

Custom cabinets in Zimbabwe typically range from $80 to $189 per square meter, depending on materials, design, and supplier.

Price Ranges and Materials

- MDF/Melamine Cabinets: Commonly imported from China, priced around $80-150 per square meter. These are suitable for standard kitchens and wardrobes and are often moisture-resistant with laminate finishes, ideal for Zimbabwe's humid climate .
- Premium Custom Solutions: Brands like Oppein offer $100-189 per meter, featuring space-optimized designs, high-quality finishes, and tailored layouts .
- Steel Cabinets: Durable options for commercial kitchens or high-density areas, often powder-coated for humidity resistance. Prices vary but are generally competitive with mid-range wood alternatives .
- Solid Wood Cabinets: Require additional sealing treatments for moisture protection; prices are higher due to material and craftsmanship.

Factors Affecting Cost

- Design Complexity: Custom layouts, sliding doors, or integrated storage solutions increase costs.
- Installation: Some suppliers include installation, while others charge separately.
- Import Duties and VAT: Average 15% import duty plus 15% VAT applies to imported cabinets, though bulk orders may receive reductions .
- Lead Times: Imported cabinets from China typically take 45-60 days, while regional suppliers (e.g., South Africa) deliver in 15-25 days
